I just thought of another idea. Did the EPA respond in an official capacity to the Center for Food Safety petition a few years ago that requested the ban of all biosolids land application?

EPA Headquarters is disinclined to respond. The last I heard from Region 9 was that they would write a letter if Headquarters supported it, so no movement as of yet. Region 9 has an excellent biosolids program and is in a good position to defend it, so it would be great if someone could make that ask of Jared (I had spoken to Alexis Strauss, with whom we have a relationship).

Typical SFBG article flare, but we have to get something to counter Hugh Kaufman from EPA. Has Jared or someone from local office responded at all about censoring him if he doesn't represent the agency's views?
